IN SOUTH NASH

Not only is the name unique, its inspiration is actually biblical, but A Salon 2dYe4 owner, Linda Kolodziej Leath, says the salon really filled a void for an upscale salon and day spa in the Nolensville Community. Located at 7177 Nolensville Road, just off the main thoroughfare of Nolensville Road, the salon is convenient to residents throughout Nolensville and the South Nashville area.

Salon 2dYe4 offers the full-range of salon/spa services, including hair styling and color, spa manicures and pedicures, as well as a variety of professional skin care services by a licensed aesthetician.

"While our services are obviously designed to enhance a person's outward appearance, we also want a visit to our salon to be a positive mind, body and spirit experience," Leath said.

"When you can help a person look their best, they feel better and have a better appreciation of their gifts. We also know that sometimes just being in a positive, relaxing and loving environment can really do wonders for a person's mind and attitude."

From the spacious and chic design, to the calming and welcoming atmosphere; it is obvious from the first step inside, that Leath and her staff have taken great care to create that environment. Leath says that many of her clients visit the salon on a weekly or bi-weekly basis for different services, saying they just look forward to the regular time of serenity and relaxation.

In addition to Leath's experience of over 27 years, she says her associates are a big draw for the salon as well. Ora Duke is the salon's nail technician and specialist in permanent cosmetics.

Other associates include Renee Elliot, stylist; Amber Sullivan, stylist; and Deanna Ledbetter, stylist. Jane Cooney serves as the salon's aesthetician and a stylist and has more than 20 years of experience.

"As a ten year cancer survivor, I know what's important to me... it's helping and connecting with people. And, helping people look and feel their best every day truly makes me happy," Leath said. "The name, as in Jesus dying for us, truly reflects my gratitude for life and my desire to give what I can to others."

A Salon 2dye4 caters to all ages—men, women and children. Additionally, to better accommodate client schedules, the salon offers extended hours and walk-in services. Make your appointment today!

Importance of Skincare

We are very excited about our spa treatment room. With today's busy and stressful pace of life, we are so pleased to offer services that will provide total peace, rest and relaxation allowing the body to begin to rejuvenate itself and give us that pampered feeling we all need so much. After your treatment, you leave feeling like a new person! Also, as an aesthetician, it is my desire to help people with their skin care needs and concerns so they can feel good about themselves and educate them as to how to care for and maintain healthy skin. Our skin is continuously exposed to pollutants, sunlight and other factors that have a damaging effect on the skin. Professional skin care from a licensed, trained therapist allows you access to specialized products and ingredients not available "over the counter" and personalized individual skin analysis, treatment and home care.
